

MADE DELEGATE TO CONFERENCE

Rev. James H. Tippet Chosen As One Of The Wisconsin Delegates To The Gen- eral Conference.

WOULD HONOR DR. SAMUEL PLANTZ

Talk Of His Being Made A Bishop In The Methodist Episcopal Church Discussed At The Wisconsin Conference In Milwaukee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 28.—(Rev. J. H. Tippet of Janesville was elected a delegate to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at the closing session of the Wisconsin conference today. The other two delegates are Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence university at Appleton, and Rev. Henry Miller, presiding elder of the Fond du Lac district.

Heated Discussion
A heated discussion was raised over the race question which was thoroughly threshed out from the standpoint of the church. By a vote of 81 to 40 a conditional amendment was adopted empowering the general conference to elect "racial bishops for work among different races or lan-

AGED DUKE OF BADEN, AGED 80, VERY ILL

One of Germany's Noted Peacemakers Ill—Played Important Role in Framing Constitution.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Berlin, Sept. 28.—Much anxiety is felt throughout Germany over the present illness of Grand Duke Frederick of Baden. The duke is suffering from a severe inflammation of the abdomen, which is accompanied by a high fever. As he is past eighty years old it is not expected that he will recover.

Few people have played a more important role, not only in the constitution of the German empire, but also in the maintenance of its integrity, than Grand Duke Frederick. It was he who, as one of the independent sovereigns of Southern Germany, conducted all the negotiations that led to the election of King William of Prussia as German emperor in 1870. And it is he, too, who since then has been the principal factor in smoothing away all those many differences, some of them of a very acute character, that have arisen between Prussia and the other states of the confederation.

Grand Duke Frederick's position as peace-maker is rendered all the more exceptional by the fact that, although he is married to the only daughter of Emperor William, and is an uncle, therefore, of the present Kaiser, yet he is the ruler of a nation which is inclined with more bitter sentiments of hostility toward Prussia than any other South German ruler. The people of Baden have never forgotten that in 1848, when they were struggling for the constitutional rights they now enjoy, a Prussian army invaded their territory, looting and destroying in its track. Grand Duke Frederick, therefore, has never been accused of undue partiality in his role of mediator, and for many years has been without exception the most influential and important monarch of the confederation.

FOOTBALL TEAM IS NOT YET PICKED OUT

Football Team at Wisconsin Can Not Even Be Picked on Paper.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Sept. 28.—One week of preliminary football work has been had at the University of Wisconsin, but it is impossible as yet to pick even a "paper" lineup of the Badger eleven for the season of 1907. The work thus far, however, has demonstrated that Wisconsin will be strong, and Professor C. P. Hutchins continues to declare his faith that his team will not be beaten this season. This, of course, involves the somewhat rash prediction that Wisconsin will defeat Minnesota in the final game of the schedule.

The coming week will bring the election of a new captain of the Wisconsin eleven, to succeed Miller, who by reason of deficiencies in class work is not eligible to play this year. Messner is the leading candidate. He has a claim on a place on the varsity team, but it is not yet determined whether he will play at his usual position on the line or be pushed out to a full end. He is also a leading factor in basketball and track activities here. Rogers, who played last year for two seasons, has also a strong claim on the football captaincy. He is also a basketball star and a member of the basketball team.

It is probable that three members of the Wisconsin freshmen crew, which won the younger event in the big intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie last June, will be members of the varsity eleven this fall. "Pete" Murphy, captain of the crew, seems to have a big lead in his candidacy for one of the twelve positions, while Wiley, stroke of the same crew, will not be beaten out of right and unless a surprisingly good man is found to do it. Laksh, also a freshman crewman, is a favorite among a large field after a guard position.

The only position on the eleven for which there is a poverty of desirable material is that of quarterback. Pulec seems to lead, but he is not satisfactory.

BITTER FEELING AGAINST COMPANIES

Residents of Kingston Are Angry at Refusal to Pay Losses by the Quake.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 28.—There is a bitter feeling against the English insurance companies growing out of the actions arising from the disaster of last January. It is charged that the companies are delaying the cases by technicalities.

Their latest move is an announcement by counsel that the companies propose in one action to make a counter claim for the declaration that the loss sustained by the policyholders was caused by an earthquake.

This cannot, if it succeeds, that other cases cannot be proceeded with under the earthquake clause. Merchants think that local companies should be formed to carry insurance. As the restoration of Kingston progresses the boycott of English concerns increases.

DOCTOR AND WIFE OF FEW MONTHS TRIED

Couple Soon After Marriage Were Ar- rested on Charge of Murdering Wife's Former Husband.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 28.—One of the most remarkable and sensational cases of alleged murder that has stirred this section in a generation will be called for trial here Monday—that of Dr. David S. Rowland, a leading physician with a large practice in this city, and his beautiful widow, formerly Mrs. Lillian Strange of Omaha, Neb. The two are charged with having murdered the woman's first husband, Charles R. Strange, in this city last April by poison or other foul means.

Struggle against the accused was first aroused by the fact that Dr. Rowland and the widow were married within six weeks after the sudden death of Strange, whom Dr. Rowland attended in his last illness. At the coroner's investigation the prosecution was dependent almost entirely on circumstantial evidence. But a claim strong enough to bring about the indictment of both on a murder charge was soon forged.

If the accused pair are entirely innocent of the death of the woman's husband they are both the victims of a most remarkable chain of appearances and developments. If the circumstantial evidence adduced at the preliminary hearing is true it had been a guilty love between Dr. Rowland and Mrs. Strange for some time before the death of the woman's husband. On the other hand, the charges against the accused declare that the appearances are deceitful. They declare that the early marriage of the doctor and the widow, which the prosecution holds as the most suspicious net in the chain of circumstantial evidence, was in reality the act of a man disposed to do the honorable thing to protect the good name of an innocent woman.

Charles R. Strange, the alleged victim of the pair, was a locomotive engineer and the brother of a locomotive engineer, of which he was a member, has lived counsel to assist in the prosecution of Dr. Rowland and his bride.

CATHEDRAL CORNER STONE LAID SUNDAY

Ceremony Sunday Over Episcopal Church Edifice at Washington— Building Located on 40-Acre Tract.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Sept. 28.—Tomorrow will be a red-letter day in the history of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Washington. At noon, with solemn and impressive services, the corner stone will be laid for the grand cathedral to be erected on Mt. St. Albans.

The laying of the foundation stone will be followed by a great outdoor service, at which the Right Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington Ingram, Bishop of London, will be the preacher. There will be present also most of the bishops of the Episcopal church in America and about 4,000 members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, whose international conference has been in session here this week.

The proposed cathedral will be almost as large as that of St. John the Divine, now being erected in New York, and larger than most of the cathedrals of Europe. The accepted design is pure decorated Gothic with a touch of French feeling. The plan suggests the cathedral of Canterbury and the color will be similar to that of the cathedral at Chester, a reddish stone having been decided upon. The dimensions indicate almost perfect proportions. The total length will be 475 feet, the total width 132 feet, the height to the ridge line of the roof 130 feet, and from the pavement to the interior apex of the vaulting 90 feet. The central tower will rise 220 feet from the ground. The plan contemplates nave, aisles, transepts, choir and two chapels. Double aisles are planned for the nave, which may be used for memorial windows, monuments and tablets. The interior will be vaulted in stone of the same color as that of the exterior and the windows have been arranged so as to concentrate a flood of light with striking effect upon the altar in the sanctuary.

It is proposed to build a large hall of Gothic architecture in harmony with the cathedral for church meetings, conventions and similar gatherings, and for the offices of the diocese. This, however, will not be undertaken until the cathedral is well along. Party acres have been acquired for the cathedral site, and it is entirely free from debt. The property was acquired by donations from various sources, the largest gift being a legacy of $300,000 from the late Harriet Lane Johnson, and the second a contribution of $200,000 from Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst.

LONDON'S MAYOR IS CHOICE OF LIVERYMEN

Executive of World's Metropolitan Chosen After Custom in Vogue During Middle Ages.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, Sept. 28.—"All you that are not liverymen depart this hall on pain of imprisonment."

With this cry of the middle ages the solemn mace-bearer opened the grand proceedings of the Guildhall today which resulted in the election of Sir John Charles Bell as the next Lord Mayor of London.

This empty ceremony of electing the chief magistrate of the greatest city of the world is held on St. Michaelmas Day each year and is one of the most quaint and striking survivals of the middle ages. Unlike all other great municipalities, London's Lord Mayor is not the chosen of the common council or a political elite. He must needs have been elected alderman of his ward by the liverymen many years before being eligible for the mayoralty. He must have served as sheriff by the election of eight thousand liverymen, representing the wealthiest and most influential citizens. As sheriff he must have had the approval of the king, and to become Lord Mayor he must appear again before the liverymen and the king, and on Lord Mayor's Day he must visit the Law Courts and before the judges the recorder of the city recites his past history.

On the day of the election the members of the ancient city companies or "livery" assemble in the Guildhall. All but the liverymen are excluded from the building, even the retiring Lord Mayor and all his colleagues must withdraw at the word of the town clerk on pain of imprisonment. The solemn procession walks from the adjoining Church of Old St. Dunstons, where service has preceded the election, and from the Guildhall the common sergeant reads the names of the candidates for the mayoralty, and the name of the one upon whom the assembled liverymen have already agreed is greeted with cheers, whereupon the aldermen are called to make the final decision, and in a few minutes the Lord Mayor-elect is called to give his consent to take the office.

The guilds or livery companies, to whom is confided the voting power, and the election of Lord Mayor, date back to Saxon days. The law which excluded sheriffs from every freeman above fourteen led to the establishment of these associations, some ecclesiastical, some secular. The oldest is the Knights' Guild, possessed of privileges granted by King Edgar for services in war. The steel yard and ship yard merchants of London then formed a guild. Later came the Saddlers. Then came the Goldsmiths, whose charter came from Edward I.

SOONER GOVERNOR THAN AMBASSADOR

Enrique C. Creel, Present Ambassa- dor From Mexico, Inaugurated As Governor of Chihuahua.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
City of Mexico, Sept. 28.—Enrique C. Creel, the Mexican ambassador to the United States, left here today for Chihuahua, of which state he is to be inaugurated governor next week. The holding of the governorship will not make it necessary for Mr. Creel to resign as an ambassador and almost immediately after his inauguration he will return to Washington to resume his official duties.

HAGUE CONFERENCE DISCUSSES COALING

Religions Warship Can Coal at Neutral Port For Fuel Enough To Reach the Enemy.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
The Hague, Sept. 28.—The committee of the peace conference which has been discussing the propositions regarding the treatment of the belligerent warships in the neutral waters today voted unanimously in favor of the warships being allowed to take on sufficient coal in neutral ports to enable them to reach the nearest belligerent.

TAFT LANDS ON JAPANESE SOIL EARLY THIS MORNING

Is Enthusiastically Greeted By The Japanese-- Harbor Gay With Boats And Flags.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Yokohama, Sept. 28.—Secretary and Mrs. Taft arrived here early this morning on the steamer Minnesota after a rough but not unpleasant voyage across the Pacific. The bay was crowded with hundreds displaying the American flag and other colors. Secretary Taft, after brief consultation with the reception committees and members of the American embassy, who went aboard the Minnesota, accepted the entire program for his entertainment, but declined to participate in any functions today or Sunday. On Monday the secretary will be received in audience by the Japanese Emperor. On landing Taft was greeted most cordially by the Japanese, with whom he is exceedingly popular.

OBJECTED TO CAMP OF THE ADVENTISTS

Place Where They Were to Camp Objected to by the Citizens-- Other News.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., Sept. 28.—On complaint of Edward Elfield, formerly of Janesville, and others owning property nearby, Mechanics' Green, Seventh-day Adventists of southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois were not allowed to pitch their tent and forty family tents on the park. The complainants stated that the green was too flat to be drained sanitarily. The Adventists will hold their camp meeting just without the city.

Capt. Fairweather is confined to bed with a terribly sprained ankle, having been injured while practicing with the college football squad.

Father M. J. Ward denies the report that a second Roman Catholic church is to be built in this city, the location to be on the west side of the river. He says more services will be instituted at his church to accommodate all who wish to worship.

Charged with inflicting nauseating and disgusting indignities on the person of 9-year-old Lester Skelley, James G. Dorance of South Beloit, a man of 26 years, is being held in jail at Rockford.

INVESTIGATING THE NEW YORK RAILWAY

Public Hearings Will Be Resumed on Tuesday Next—Books Looked Into.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Sept. 28.—Inquiry into the finances and business methods of the transit system in this city, based on a thorough study of the books of the New York City Rail Road company, the Metropolitan Securities company and the Interborough Metropolitan will be resumed before the public service commission on Tuesday. In the course of the next few sessions, it is declared, will be disclosed conditions as startling as any which Charles Hughes brought out by the insurance investigation.

William Evans, special counsel of the commission, has completed his scrutiny of the books of the Interborough Metropolitan Securities company, but he declines emphatically to discuss his discoveries and will not outline his plan for subsequent investigation, or talk at all about the reports of mismanagement and sensational disclosures which have been rife in the financial district.

CUBAN BOY TRIED TO KILL THE COOK

Stuck Dynamite Under Cook Shanty— Then Tried to Put in Wood Pile.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Sept. 28.—Because he had a grievance against Charles Eckman, a mess-cook for Co. G of the United States signal corps stationed at Fort Wood, Bedlow's Island, a Cuban boy, employed as a laborer, attempted to blow up the kitchen with dynamite. Capt. George C. Durnell in command on Bedlow's Island then ordered the boy from the island.

The boy is the stepson of a soldier stationed in Cuba. He was employed as a laborer in the reconstruction of the base of the statue of liberty. Much dynamite is used on the island, and after his quarrel with the cook the boy put several sticks of the explosive in the coal bin. When the dynamite was discovered the caps were off and in this condition the explosive was practically harmless.

Man Lately In The Shadows of the Gallows Now Would Aid a Fel- low Sufferer.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Sept. 28.—Roland B. Molineux is taking part in an effort to get a pardon for Edward Wins, who was a member of the Boston National League team when he was convicted of murder in 1898 for killing Charles P. Beasley, a bookmaker, in West Thirty-seventh street. Wins was sentenced to die, but Gov. Roosevelt commuted the sentence to life imprisonment. Molineux went to the criminal courts building and got a record of the case. There were other men with Wins when Beasley was killed and Wins says one of them committed the crime.

WILL RETAIN CAMP ON THE ISTHMUS YET

For the Present the Marines Will Re- main on the Canal Zone Is the Notice.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Sept. 28.—For strategic and other purposes the camp of the marine battalion on duty in the canal zone will be retained at Bas Obispo for the present. Accommodation will be made sufficient to comfortably care for the officers and men stationed there. It was recently recommended by the commanding officer of the marine battalion that new marine barracks be erected on a site selected on the Suburban Road, about one and one-half miles from the railroad station in Panama, but an investigation of the local conditions developed the fact that it was not large enough to accommodate the garrison proposed.

NEED MORE HELP OF NATIONAL TREASURY

New York Money Market Needs Help From National Government Shortly.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Sept. 28.—Moderate selling, attributed largely to professional account, has served to depress prices of securities during the week. The neglect of the market is due to the desire to await the October first settlements, the passing of danger to the corn crop from frost and the conviction that the tranquillity of the money market during the crop moving period is dependent on refraining from diversion of resources into speculation. Currency has moved freely from New York, but the course of the foreign exchange market has been decidedly downward and further relief measures for the money market by the treasury department are being urged.

Hope is professed that the copper market has approached a stable level and the iron market has steadied.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, Sept. 28, 1867.—At The Point Of Death.—We are sorry to learn that Mr. Schuyler, president of the Young Men's Christian association, is very ill and his death is hourly expected.

Himself Again.—It would appear from the crowd that he is himself again, in the dry goods business, and that he, Geddes, means business.

A Suggestion.—As Senator Summer lectures in this city October 16th, we suggest that Mr. Hopkins postpone his meeting on that evening to some other date in order that the people may have an opportunity of hearing both gentlemen.

Meeting.—The fourth quarterly meeting of the Methodist Episcopal church of this city occurs today and tomorrow under the supervision of Rev. C. D. Pillsbury, presiding elder, of this district. Exercises for Sunday will be Love Feast at 9 a. m., preaching at 10:30 by the presiding elder, and he will deliver his celebrated temperance lecture at 7:30 in the evening.

Young Men's Association.—Our young men's association is preparing to furnish the citizens of Janesville a rare intellectual feast in the way of a series of lectures this fall and winter. They have already secured Hon. Charles Sumner, Dr. Holland, and John H. Gough. They expect to be able to add to the list some eight or ten other lecturers who possess the ability to instruct and entertain. The regular course will be opened by Senator Summer on October 16 when our citizens will have an opportunity to listen to one of America's most accomplished statesmen.

Daily Grain Letter

WHEAT—Liverpool was contrary again this morning sending higher cables as against our decline of yesterday which with further unsettled weather in the northwest induced covering by local traders and a consequent fractional advance around the opening. The appearance of strength was short lived, however, as long wheat was on sale which later led to aggressive short selling and a decline of about one cent around which price the markets steadied, but although several efforts were made to rally it the recuperative power was almost nil. During the week there has been practically no change in the underlying situation, foreign markets have maintained prices with the exception of possible speculative setbacks. The Canadian northwest again contributed sensational advice which if true will practically eliminate Canada as an exporter during the present season. Reports from Minnesota and the Dakotas have been contradictory but nothing has developed to cause us to change our estimate of 170,000,000 bushels of the three states. Southwestern markets have sent extraordinary advice which would indicate that Texas, Oklahoma and southern states are competing at St. Louis and Kansas City for supplies of both red and hard winter wheat and the latter is in our market has come from a small discount to a premium of half a cent over December, due to direct export sales and on bids from the east. Generally speaking a more favorable situation could hardly obtain from the commercial viewpoint, and while we are inclined to look for a still further decline we regard it as logical outcome of speculative conditions and have not changed our opinion as to the ultimate result.

CORN AND OATS—Have been strong during most of the week, the former on buying induced by unfavorable crop conditions and the latter on a continuance of cash demand. The latter market was fairly active with prices lower. We remain strong friends of both commodities.

PRICES—Have manifested a dragging tendency throughout the entire week. Liquidation in the near future was the chief factor. Trade has not been of such a character as to indicate great confidence in present prices.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

Someone has said recently that "the best things of life are not on the market and never will be, and money has no power over them. It can buy neither happiness nor content, nor can it buy a home."

It is an old truism, and yet worth recalling occasionally, especially in these days when the scramble for money is so lively and persistent.

The marketplaces of life are always scenes of busy activity and the great variety of wares offered for sale satisfy the eye and meet the demands of the pocketbook, but the best furnished house and the most beautifully supplied larder never make a home.

A few years ago a couple of diamond thieves entered a jewelry store in Cleveland, and while one of them was selecting a ring, the other snatched a jewel case and escaped with $27,000 worth of gems.

In the same city, at about the same time, a second-rate entered a home; in the guise of a friend, and stole from it the affections of the wife and mother.

The store that was robbed continued in business, as though nothing had happened, but the home despoiled sustained irreparable loss, from which it never recovered.

A desire to gain money, in all honorable ways, is always commendable and most praiseworthy. The man, destitute of this desire, and the ambition which goes with it, if success is attained, is as certain to make a failure of life, as time is to pass.

The world is well represented by this class of people—men who waste time and energy in envying other people's prosperity, yet who never make an intelligent effort to win.

When the good Lord permitted the race to spring into existence, and perpetuate itself, He evidently understood conditions, and so provision was made whereby the best prizes in life could be secured without money or price, and so it happens that humble homes, deprived of luxuries and many comforts, are frequently palaces of happiness and content.

This does not mean that the occupants are shiftless or lazy, for work with willing hands is necessary to the building of a home, but it does mean that happiness and contentment may be secured without a legacy or fortune.

The Methodist ministers, now in annual session in Milwaukee, are struggling with the question of meagre support. One of them said that after years of service he had never passed the $600 salary mark. His case is duplicated by scores, not only in the Methodist, but in other churches.

The advanced cost of living comes as a special hardship upon this class of preachers, whose salaries seldom advance and frequently shrink below the average.

What is true of the preacher is true of the great army of medium-priced salaried men in every calling. While day wages, for all classes of workmen, have kept pace with the advancing market, salaries, in many lines, are no higher than they were five years ago.

Clerks, bookkeepers and office help continue to work at about the same old wage, and the only way to account for it is, that the supply is always greater than the demand. A score of applicants are ready for every vacancy.

This is largely true of the ministry. It matters not how weak the church nor how meagre the support, some man is ready to tender his services, and the dispensing of a free gospel goes on indefinitely while the pen refuses to let the sentiment so tersely expressed in the old hymn, "I'm glad salvation is free."

It does not follow that these light salaried men, in the various callings of life, are miserable and unhappy, for as a rule they are not. While possessing commendable ambition to better their condition, they accept the inevitable, with good grace, and make the best of conditions.

No fatter lot of men ever assembled, than a gathering of small-salaried preachers. They are men of generous impulses, in close touch with the hard situations in life, ready to respond to every appeal, and the last dollar in the pocket frequently goes into the hat with a God-bless-you for some brother in straitened circumstances.

The cottage, and not the mansion, represents the home of the masses, and the average cottager, blessed with health, and surrounded by wife and children, ever ready to contribute to his happiness, finds no trouble in discovering that his lot in life is infinitely better than some unfortunate neighbor, whose money can purchase neither health nor happiness.

In spite of all the opportunities which this country offers for advancement to men who develop ability to assume positions of trust and responsibility, the fact remains that a large majority of people continue to work under direction.

This is a blessing rather than a hardship, for the man who serves in a comparatively carefree, and removed, from the ranks of failure and disappointment, so common to the men who direct and are responsible for success or failure.

Physical weakness, with the brain and mind at rest, is the greatest boon which comes to tired humanity. Money can not buy it and it is rarely enjoyed by the envious class called capitalists for the want of a better name.

Men seldom die prematurely, from over-exertion of physical strength. The body is built to endure the strain, and is generally equal to every emergency.

The slow suicides of life are always found in the ranks of the brain-workers, and long before the brittle thread snaps, the victim has sacrificed happiness and every vestige of contentment. His home has become a semi-hospital, and his wife a trained nurse, while the children know but one word in the vocabulary, and that is "don't." The mansion and the money are in evidence, but the home is lacking.

There is only one philosophical view to take of life, and that is to make the best of conditions and not to worry. This is more readily adopted in the cottage than in the mansion, and so it happens that love in the cottage is chanted in both song and story, while love in the mansion is seldom mentioned.

Love, of the oldtime sort, is what makes the home. Money may contribute, but it is not necessary. There are so many jewels, possessed by common inheritance and enjoyed by the masses, which are not measured by a money standard, that humanity is rich in blessings, which only needs recognition to be appreciated.

The fight now going on between ex-President Fish, of the Illinois Central railroad, and Mr. Harahan, the present incumbent, is of about as much interest to the public as a scrap between local newspapers, which is always disgusting. Mr. Fish is out and injured, and should take defeat gracefully.

The more appointment of a citizens' committee to go to Madison next Tuesday to protest against the granting of a franchise to Montgomery for a stub road from Madison to Janesville will not be sufficient to interest the city. The thing to do is to see that the committee goes.

So ex-Congressman Babcock has changed his residence again. Last we heard he was going to live in Milwaukee.

There are many things better than money as some people find out after a long struggle with themselves between right and wrong.

With the Milwaukee Water Company sending its products throughout the civilized world it ought to help some.

People may go all over the world, but when they get back home to Janesville they are glad to be back.

People with winter overcoats look comfortable these days when coal begins to burn in the furnace.

The Rock County Sugar Company will soon be ready to begin its fall run of beets.

The Indian Summer days have not been lost sight of. They are coming.

DUGAN TRIAL WAS ADJOURNED A WEEK

H. L. Maxfield Given Permission to Withdraw From Case—District Attorney Asks For Assistant in Prosecution.

When the criminal action of the State vs. Florence Dugan was called by Judge Sale in municipal court this morning, Attorney H. L. Maxfield who has represented the defendant since her arrest, asked for and was granted permission to withdraw from the case. Owing to the fact that there is a large number of criminal cases pending involving a corresponding large amount of work, and owing to the importance of the case in question, District Attorney J. L. Fisher asked the court to appoint Atty. W. G. Wheeler to assist him in the prosecution of this action. Judge Sale referred the matter to Judge Field who will return from his vacation trip next week. The trial was adjourned until next week Saturday as predicted in yesterday's Gazette.

OVER SEVENTY CASES
NOTICED FOR TRIAL

During the October Term of Circuit Court—Calendar Was Completed Today.

The calendar for the October term of the circuit court was made up in the office of Clerk of Court Jesse Carlo today. Besides the two criminal actions of the State vs. Burger for alleged violation of the oleomargarine laws, and the State vs. Hansen for alleged violation of the laws governing the adulteration of milk, about seventy actions are noticed for trial by jury and the court. Many of these are old cases which have been continued from term to term and it is hardly probable that the majority of the cases will be actually tried and settled during the term which begins a week from Monday. The cases in their alphabetical order are as follows:

Albrecht vs. C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co.; Anderson et al vs. Culton; Harrington vs. the Rock County Sugar Co.; Harva vs. Theisen; Citizens' Bank of Clinton vs. Thomas et al; Second National Bank of Beloit vs. the Beloit Water Power Co.; Casey vs. Straus et al; Collins vs. Wilcox; Colton vs. Dwardin et al; City of Beloit vs. Garvan; City of Beloit vs. McKean; City of Beloit vs. Hansen; City of Janesville vs. Janesville Street Ry. Sir Thomas Was Too Particular.
Exchange: Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for the America's cup has been turned down by the New York Yacht club, for the reason that Sir Thomas wanted too many things in his own favor in the rules and regulations governing the next race. At the same time there is still reason to hope a satisfactory agreement will be reached, which will allow the distinguished British sportsman to bring over another Shamrock and make another try for the cup.

Tolerance That is Charming.
Exchange: It is one of the charms of theosophy, as expounded by its high priestesses, Mrs. Besant, that it enables its disciples to use less harsh terms than are sometimes employed by those not addicted to the esoteric, designate persons of feeble intellect and equipment than themselves. To say that the possessor of an inferior intellect is merely younger is not making use of so abrupt, and vehement language as our more familiar epithet. It is also more polite and considerate.

CHIMES WILL TOLL TONIGHT

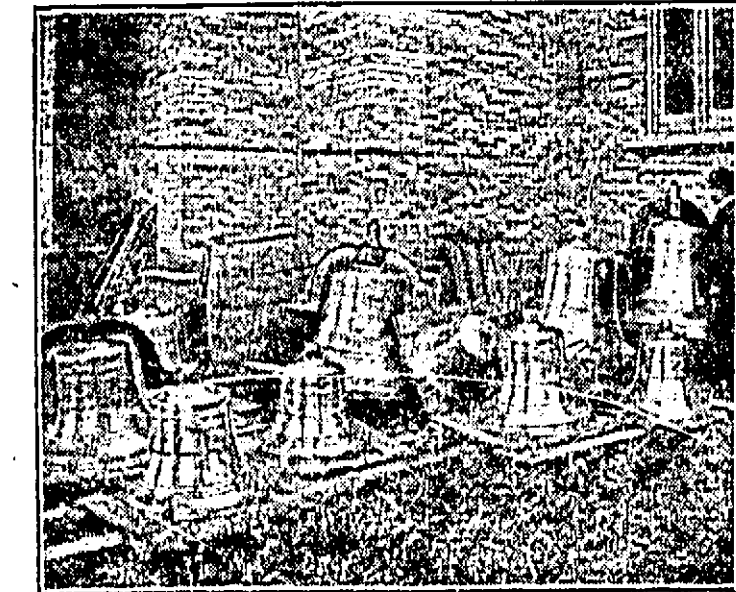

PUBLIC WILL HAVE ITS FIRST OPPORTUNITY TO HEAR JEFFREIS CHIMES TONIGHT.

SIX CONCERTS TO BE GIVEN

F. L. Spelden, of Louisville, Ky., Will Play Chimes—Two Noted Singers at Dedication Service Sunday.

Hear the sledges with the bells! Silver bells!
What a world of merriment their melody foretells!
How they tinkle, tinkle, tinkle, In the icy air of night!
While the stars that oversprinkle All the heavens, seem to tinkle With a crystalline delight.
—Edgar Allan Poe.

As the clock strikes eight tonight the Janesville public will have its first opportunity of hearing the David Jeffreys Memorial chimes installed in the First Congregational church this week. The opening selection will be "Prayer God From Whom All Blessings Flow," followed by a program of 12 other numbers. F. L. Spelden, organist and chimist of the First Baptist church of Louisville, Ky., will play the chimes, having arrived here at noon today for the express purpose of giving concerts tonight, Sunday morning and evening, and Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings.

TEN BELLS COMPOSING JEFFREIS PEARED ON THE GROUND that church of Louisville, Ky., will play the chime, having arrived here at noon today for the express purpose of giving concerts tonight, Sunday morning and evening, and Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings.

As a token to the beloved memory of David Jeffreys, the family of the pioneer has installed this set of chimes consisting of ten bells. A fitting dedication service has been prepared by the Rev. R. C. Denison for Sunday morning that will be given during the regular Sabbath morning service hour. The service will be a responsive one between the congregation and the pastor. The service will also be embellished by two noted vocalists, Leon Louis Rice, tenor, of New York, and Miss Ella C. Richards, soprano, of Sterling, Ill. Mr. Rice will render several selections at the sacred concert to be given in the church in the evening. Mr. Rice was on his way to Rockford this morning, where he is to give a concert Monday night, when he was engaged to sing at the Congregational church tomorrow. The singing of this famous New York tenor will be well remembered by those who composed the two large audiences a year ago last May in the same church. He has an international reputation having sung in over 400 cities in the United States and Canada during the past three years. He made his debut in concert work at the St. Louis Fair in 1904 and was also engaged for a series of recitals at the Jamestown exposition last July. The regular choir will sing at both the morning service and the vesper service at 5:30 o'clock in the evening.

W. S. Jeffreys, who had charge of purchasing the chimes, corresponded with several bell foundries in both this country and in England and Holland. He visited the Meshane foundry, where the chimes were manufactured, at Ludlow, just across the river, and had the opportunity of hearing some of the bells, composing the chime, ring. The Meshane foundry was established in 1856 and is one of the oldest concerns of its kind in America. John J. Matey, who has been here in charge of the installation of the chime has completed the work. It being the first set he has placed. The company furnishes a book of music containing over 100 pieces that may be played on the bells. The chimes consist of ten bells which affords a large variety of pieces that may be played on them. Most chimes in England, Mr. Jeffreys declares, have but eight bells, which limits the pieces that may be played to a less number than the chime here, a number of playing. In the concert to be given between this evening and Wednesday some 50 different tunes will be played which will give the public a comprehensive idea of the wide range of the chimes. The program of the concerts to be given by Mr. Spelden tonight and Sunday is as follows:

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.—1. Prayer God From Whom All Blessings Flow, 2. Oxford Changes (Prael), 3. My Country 'Tis of Thee, 4. Maryland, My Maryland, 5. My Old Kentucky Home, 6. Holy City, 7. Blue Bells of Scotland, 8. Last Rose of Summer, 9. Old Apple Buckle, 10. Robin Adair, 11. Columbia the Gem of the Ocean, 12. My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean, 13. Auld Lang Syne.

Sunday Morning, 10 o'clock.—1. Prayer God From Whom All Blessings Flow, 2. All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name, 3. Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus, 4. Nearer My God to Thee, 5. Joy to the World, the Lord is Come, 6. What a Friend We Have in Jesus, 7. A Charge to Keep I Have, 8. I Love to Tell the Story, 9. My Faith Looks up to Thee, 10. Jesus Linger, 11. Rock of Ages, 12. How Firm a Foundation (Portuguese hymn).

Sunday evening 5:30 o'clock.—1. Ring the Bells of Heaven, 2. Lead Kindly Light, 3. Art Thou Worthy, Art Thou Languid, 4. Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross, 5. Safe in the Arms of Jesus, 7. I Love to Steal a While Away, 8. Pass Me Not, O Gentle Saviour, 9. More Love to Thee, 10. Saviour, More Than Life to Me, 11. Abide with Me, 12. Holy, Holy, Holy.

UNIVERSITY HAS A MARKED INCREASE

Big Enrollment at State University—New Students Number 1,158—Will Reach 4,000.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 28.—The results of the first three days of registration at the University of Wisconsin show a marked increase in the number of students. Thus far 2,508 have registered, which indicates that the total attendance for this year will reach 4,000. The new students number 1,158 as against 890 new students at the same time last year, an increase of 268. As the upper classes are somewhat slow in returning this year, the enrollment of old students is somewhat less than at the corresponding time last year. The total increase in the registration thus far is 161. The figures indicate substantial increase in attendance in all departments, the growth being particularly marked in the colleges of letters and science and engineering. The new college of medicine and the new courses preparatory to journalism have attracted a number of new students.

The Apollo Club.
The annual meeting of The Apollo Club for the election of directors, and such other business as may properly be considered, will be held at Library Hall, Monday night, October 7, at 8 o'clock sharp.

Miss Grace Nelson of Chicago will follow with one of her delightful concert series. She is a soprano of high rank. Present membership cards are good for this concert, but members must take out new cards for the season of 1907-8 before the following concert, which will be given October 21st. We need fifty new associate members. The Apollo Club is doing excellent work and every lover of thoroughly artistic concerts should become a member. Send your name to C. P. Boers, Secretary, Jackson Building, with check for five dollars, and early action will be taken by the Committee on Membership.

HAYES TO CONFER WITH PRESIDENT

City of Joliet Names Janesville Man as Delegate to Nat'l Waterways Convention at Memphis.

Michael Hayes of this city has been named by the people of Joliet, Ill., as delegate to the National Waterways convention at Memphis on October 4 and 5. The delegates will meet President Roosevelt at St. Louis and proceed with him by boat to the scene of the big session where the nation's chief executive will deliver an address. The big undertakings which Mr. Hayes and his associates have completed on the Chicago drainage canal will make him a valuable man in the convention deliberations.

MUST BE FIT FOR RIDE

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION OF THE OFFICERS BEFORE TEST.
Staff Officers Think They Shouldn't Be Included—Route for the Riders Kept Secret.
Washington, Sept. 28.—(Maj. W. H. Ham II, Arthur and Maj. Francis A. Winter, army surgeons on duty at the general hospital at Washington barracks, have been appointed a board to make the physical examinations of the field officers on duty in the war department who are required to take the 15-mile test ride on October 8 next in accordance with President Roosevelt's order.
Every officer affected by the order must be physically examined before the ride, and any officer found to be in such physical condition that taking the test might endanger his life will not be required to take the test.
A second physical examination is to be taken immediately after the ride, to make sure that the officers have not injured themselves.
In the case of officers who fall in the physical examination from causes indicating permanent disability it is expected that they will be ordered before a retiring board. This order is regarded by staff officers as bearing upon them with undue severity. Many are of sedentary habits and have been performing duties which they assert do not in the nature of things carry them into the field in a campaign.
Because so much attention has been called to the route of the ride in this city, and because of the crowds likely to watch the ride in a principal thoroughfare here, and make observations disconcerting to the officers astride horses for the first time in many years, word has gone forth abandoning the original route and prescribing that the ride shall begin at Fort Myer and continue over some of the remoter roads in Virginia to be selected by Col. Hatfield, the commandant of the post, who will exert himself to prevent any knowledge of the route becoming known in advance.

CLOSE ON TRAIL OF TRUST'S BOOKS

MYSTERIOUS STEEL SAFE
Disappeared Without Assistant Secretary Seeing Contents—More Testimony as to Huge Pipe Line Profits.
New York, Sept. 28.—Frank B. Kellogg, conducting the suit of the United States for the dissolution of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, made another bid Friday in the hearing of the oil case, to discover a trail that would lead to the finding of the long-sought books of the Standard Oil trust and liquidating trustees.
When the hearing was concluded, Mr. Kellogg said that he was closer to the books, from which he hopes to prove that the oil combine never underwent a legal dissolution, than he had been at any time since the government's action was commenced.
Assistant Secretary Doesn't Know.
Charles White, the assistant secretary of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, said on the witness stand Friday that when he went to the secretary's office to assume his new duties there were two steel safes in the office. One of them contained the books and records of the Standard company; what was in the other safe he did not know. Mr. White said that no one told him the nature of the contents of the second safe, which was removed two weeks after he had been there. From whom the order came or where it was taken to, the witness said, he could not answer.
Mr. White said that he had never seen the records of the Standard Oil trust or the liquidating trustees showing the various transfers of stock in the trust liquidating period. He had hunted for the records recently but was unable to find them.
More About Pipe Line Profits.
More testimony was taken to show the profits of some of the Standard's subsidiary pipe lines, which, the government's counsel declares, are excessive and maintained to prevent shipments of crude oil by independent producers. George Chesbro, controller of several of the subsidiary pipe lines, testified that the Southern Pipe Line company of Pennsylvania, earned $4,376,618 gross in 1906, and that the operating expenses were only $316,522. The balance sheet of the company for that year showed the net plant investment to be $2,215, 64. The company's balance sheet showed an item of $2,607,856 as a payment to J. P. Trainer, and charged to operating expenses. Mr. Chesbro said that he could give no information about the Trainer account or why it had been charged to operating expenses. In 1906 the balance sheet of the company showed $1,599,838 paid to Mr. Trainer. The case was adjourned until next Thursday in order that John G. Burns, one of the defendant's counsel, might attend the McKinley monument dedication in Canton, O.

NEGRO JOKES WHILE BEING HANGED.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 28.—Laughing and joking, Kemp Holt, a negro, was hanged Friday at Milton, near here, for murder. The smile that followed the telling of his last joke had not faded from his face when the black cap was adjusted and the trap sprung.
All the Appearance.
A small boy from the north, who was visiting a relative in one of the southern states where convict labor is employed in public improvements, became very interested in the men and their black and white striped clothes. RACE RIOT IN FREMONT, NEB.

Negroes and Italians Fight—Two Men Are Wounded.
Fremont, Neb., Sept. 28.—In a race riot here Friday between negroes and Italians employed in street paving work, two men were wounded, one probably fatally. The injured men are C. Brooks, a white American, shot in the leg, and Wilmet Vallolla, Italian, skull fractured, probably with a revolver. It is thought that Vallolla's injuries will cause his death.
Brook was not concerned in the fight which was participated in by negroes and Italians.
He was struck by a stray bullet. There has been bad blood between the Italians and negroes which resulted in the free for all fight. A number of participants were arrested.

THE PEERLESS WAY
Scores of Janesville Citizens Have Learned It.
If you suffer from backache, There is only one way to cure it. The perfect way is to cure the kidneys.
A bad back means sick kidneys. Neglect it, urinary troubles follow. Doan's Kidney Pills are made for kidneys only.
Are endorsed by Janesville people. Mrs. R. M. Wilson, of 202 Mineral Point Ave., Janesville, Wis., says: "I had been suffering with my back for a number of years. I had constant pain in the loins and I felt so generally weak and run-down that I often felt that I could not keep up. I used balms and other remedies that did not help me, and finally, seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our papers, I sent to the People's Drug Co., and got a box and began using them. A few doses were sufficient to rid me of the pain and I continued taking the remedy until entirely cured. My son found the same satisfaction in using them for bladder-trouble as he has been entirely free from it since using Doan's Kidney Pills."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Gund's Peerless Beer
Pure, natural juices of the barley and hops are combined by the famous "Gund Natural Process" into a fermented malt beer, whose fine fragrance and rich strengthening food qualities won for it the diploma of highest excellence at Paris, 1900, and for commanding superiority at St. Louis Exposition, 1904.
"Beer is liquid bread." This is an ancient German saying and is true in the most literal sense of "Peerless." Try it and see. It will quench your thirst, give you strength, promote digestion, satisfy your palate and enrich your blood. Sparkling, wholesome, snappy and delicious.
Bottled at brewery only. Sold everywhere. A favorite home beer. Send in a trial order for a case delivered at your door. Telephone, write or call. Ask for it at places of public resort if you want something better than common brews.

Tree Sacred to Japanese God.
A tree in Japan is sacred to the god Ginkgo, therefore our slang phrase "by ginkgo" is probably derived from the Japanese oath by Ginkgo. In 1635 the Japanese gave a site on an artificial island in Nippon for the settlement of Portuguese merchants, and had the space laid out in the shape of a fan, identifying an object agreeable for general use.

What Would You Do

If three good physicians should pronounce your case hopeless. If they should decide that you could not live longer than six weeks. And if you should get well, after using only $12.00 worth of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine, what would you advise a friend in like condition to do?

"I have to thank you for saving my wife's life two years ago. We had consulted with the doctor and the third doctor, like the two previous ones, said that nothing could be done for her; that she had better be taken home from the hospital to quietly wait her time, which would not be over a week at the most. I brought her home, and then I thought, probably Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine might help her, so I got a bottle of each and some Syrup and Liver Pills and commenced to give them to her. We soon saw an improvement, and encouraged for this we continued giving the medicine. We gave her eleven bottles in all of the medicine. She takes it occasionally now if she feels the need. I am in the ministry, and have been for 44 years."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY G. W. BILLINGHAM COMPANY

"That's the mother, I expect," said Day, putting his glass firmly into his eye. "A handsome pair. Gad, Paul, that young woman—oh!"

"Perhaps you'd like to marry her," said Paul bitterly.

Day drew himself up stiffly. "I don't marry stray young women I see on the street, however attractive," he said in his cold voice. "I don't know either of these ladies."

"Paul will introduce you if you make it worth his while."

"Why the deuce should I?" retorted Day, staring.

"Well," said Beecot impulsively, telling the whole of the misfortune that had befallen him, "that is the wife and that is the daughter of Anron Norman, alias Krill. The daughter inherits five thousand a year, so marry her and be happy."

"But your Dutchess?" asked Groxon, dropping his eyes in amazement.

"She has me and poverty," said Paul, turning away. Nor could the quiet call of Day's music stop him. But at the end of the street he looked back and saw Groxon entering the office of the lawyer. If Day was the man Paul said he was, Paul guessed that he would inquire about the heiress and marry her, too, if her banking account was large and safe.

CHAPTER XII.

WHEN Paul reached his garret he found a letter from his father and opened it with some trepidation. It proved to contain joyful news. Mr. Beecot thanked him that Paul was not such a fool as he had been of yore and hinted that this sudden access of money which had led him to engage himself to a wealthy girl had come from his father and not from his mother. He—Beecot senior—was aware that Paul had acted badly and had not remembered what was due to the best of fathers, but since he was prepared to settle down with a rich wife, Beecot senior nobly forgave the past and Paul's many delinquencies (mentioned in detail) and would be glad to welcome his daughter-in-law. Then Beecot, becoming the tyrant again, indicated that the marriage should take place in Wargrove and that the fact of Sylvia's father being murdered should be suppressed. In fact, the old gentleman left nothing to the young couple, but arranged everything in his own selfish way, even to choosing, in Wargrove, the house they would inhabit.

Paul, facing the situation, bravely wrote to his father and explained how the fortune had passed from Sylvia, but declared with all the romance of youth that he intended to marry the girl all the same. If Beecot senior, said Paul, would permit the marriage and allow the couple a small income until the husband could earn enough to keep the pot boiling, the writer would be grateful. If not, Paul declared firmly that he would work like a slave to make a home for his darling. But nothing in the world would make him give up Sylvia.

As Paul entered he heard a heavy woman plunge down the stairs and found his arm grasped by Deborah, very red faced and very furious, the moment he crossed the threshold. Dart could be heard knocking boxes together in the cellar, as he was getting Deborah's belongings ready for removal to Jubileetown, where the cottage and the drying ground for the laundry had already been secured through Paul. But Paul had no time to ask what was going on. A glance at the handmaid's fearful face revealed that she knew the worst, in which case Sylvia must also have heard the news.

"Yes," cried Deborah, seeing the sudden whiteness of Paul's cheeks and shaking him so much as to hurt his injured arm, "she knows, she—oh, Lor, bless us that things should come to this—and there she's sitting—screaming out her beautiful eyes for you, Mr. Beecot. Thinking of your thorough her over, and if you do," shouted Deborah, with another shake, "you'd better be'nt smashed to a jelly than face me in my present state. See! you from the window I made bold to come down and ask your intentions, for if they do mean no marriage and the breaking of my pretty's heart, never shall she set eyes again on a double faced donkey, and—ah—here Deborah gasped for breath and again shook Paul.

"Deborah," he said in a quiet voice, releasing himself, "I love Sylvia for herself and not for her money."

Deborah threw her brawny arms in the air and her apron over her red head. "I knowed it—oh, yes, indeed," she sobbed in muffled tones.

"I see you know all," said Paul, as soon as he could slip in a word.

"Know all," almost yelled Deborah, dragging down the apron and revealing flashing eyes, "and it's a mussy I ain't in Old Dalry this very day for something that monkey of a Paul. Oh, if I'd known what he was, never should he 'ave got me in the laundry, though the same may have to go, worse luck. Ho, yes, he come, and she come with her lifting, as is almost as big a cat as she is. Mrs. Krill, bless her, oh, yes, Mrs. Krill, the snake!" sobbed Deborah.

"Did she see Sylvia?" asked Beecot sharply.

"Yes, she did," admitted Deborah, "but let's her in not knowin' her scartchins. An' the monkey an' the lifting come, too, sayin' out the land, as you may say."

Paul nodded. "Calling names won't do any good, Deborah," he said sadly. "We must do the best we can."

"There ain't no chance of the law gettin' that woman to the gallows, I s'pose, sir?"

"The woman is your late master's lawful wife. Paul seems to think so and has gone over to the enemy"—here Deborah clutched her mighty fists and gasped.

Beecot was soon in the sitting room and found Sylvia on the sofa, her face buried in her hands. She looked up when she recognized the beloved foot-steps and sprang to her feet. The next moment she was sobbing her heart out on Paul's faithful breast, and he was comforting her with all the endearing names he could think of.

"My own, my sweet, my dearest darling," whispered Paul, smoothing the pretty brown hair, "don't weep. You have lost much, but you have me."

"But Paul, though my mother may not have been married to my father"—

"She was, Sylvia, but Mrs. Krill was married to him earlier. Your father committed bigamy, and you, poor child, have to pay the penalty."

"And am I not his true daughter?" she asked, her lips quivering.

"You are my own darling, Sylvia," murmured Paul, kissing her hair. "Don't let us talk of the matter. I fear from the attitude of Paul that Mrs. Krill will make good her claim. Were there a chance of keeping you in possession of the money, Paul would never have left you so easily."

"I am so sorry about the money on your account, Paul."

"My own," he said cheerily, "money is a good thing, and I wish we could have kept the five thousand a year. But I have you, and you have me, and although we cannot marry for a long time yet—"

"Not marry, Paul? Oh, why not?"

"Dearest, I am poor. I cannot drag you down to poverty."

Sylvia looked at him wide eyed. "I am poor already," she looked round the room. "Nothing here is mine. I have only a few clothes. Mrs. Paul said that Mrs. Krill would take everything. Let me marry you, darling," she whispered conclusively, "and we can live in your garret. I will cook and mend and be your own little wife."

Beecot groaned. "Don't tempt me, Sylvia," he said, putting her away. "I dare not marry you. Why, I have hardly enough to pay the fees. No, dear, you must go with Deborah to her laundry, and I'll work night and day to make enough for us to live on. Then we'll marry."

"To think that you should still wish to marry me. I am poor—I have no name, and"—sighed Sylvia.

"Dearest, you will soon have my name."

"But Mrs. Krill said—"

"I don't want to hear what she said," cried Paul impetuously. "She is a bad woman. I can see badness written all over her smiling face. We won't think of her. When you leave here you won't see her again. My own dear little sweetheart," whispered Paul tenderly, "when you leave this unhappy house let the bad past go. You and I will begin a new life. Come, don't cry, my pet. Here's Deborah."

Sylvia looked up and threw herself into the faithful servant's arms. "Deborah—I'm—I'm so happy!"

Deborah placed her young mistress in Paul's arms. "Then let 'em make you 'appier, pretty lil' of the valley. Lor, as if anything bad 'ud ever come to you two white lil' old Debbies have a leg to stan' on an' arms to vash-

The next moment she was sobbing her heart out on Paul's faithful breast. Though the laundry—oh, Lor, and she rubbed her nose till it grew scarlet. "What of it, Mr. Beecot, I do ask?"

"Have you enough money to pay a year's rent?"

"Yes, me and Dart have saved one hundred between us. Rent and furniture and taxes can come out of it, sure. And my washin' what I call washin'." said Deborah emphatically. "No lost buttons and tattered sheets and ragged collars. I'd wash 'em in the queen's self, though I see it as shouldn't. Give me a tub, and you'll see if the money don't come in."

"Well, then, Deborah, as I am too poor to marry Sylvia now, I want her to stop with you till I can make a home for her."

"An' where else should she stop but with her own lil' foolish Debbie, I'd like to know? My flower, you come an' be the queen of the laundry."

"I'll keep the accounts, Debbie," said Sylvia, now all smiling.

"You'll keep nothing but your color an' your dear 'cut up,'" retorted Deborah, smiling. "She an' Paul 'ill do all. An' this blessed day we'll go to Jubileetown with our belongings. An' you, Mr. Beecot?"

"I'll come and see you settled, Deborah, and then I return to earn an income for Sylvia. I won't let you keep her long."

"She'll stop as long as she have the will," shouted Deborah, hugging Sylvia. "As to that Krill cut?"

"She can take possession as soon as she likes. And, Deborah," added Paul significantly, "for all that has happened, I don't intend to drop the search for your late master's murderer."

"It's the Krill cut as done it," said Deborah, "though I ain't got no reason for a sayin' of such a think."

SAYS HIS TRIAL IS UNFAIR.

Rev. W. P. Ferguson Resigns from the Nebraska Methodist Conference.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 28.—Rev. Wilbert P. Ferguson of University place Friday resigned from the state Methodist conference rather than proceed with the church trial in which he was being tried for unbecoming conduct with Mrs. E. A. Cross, a member of his congregation. His counsel declared the withdrawal took place because of the prejudicial rulings of Rev. J. T. Roberts, the minister presiding at the trial. Mr. Ferguson's counsel asserted that the ruling preventing depositions in favor of Mr. Ferguson or reflecting on Mrs. Cross was highly unfair.

ROOSEVELT WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE

POSITIVE STATEMENT MADE BY MR. ROOT AT LITTLE ROCK.

MEXICO READY FOR HIM

Official Program of Receptions and Festivities in Honor of the Secretary of State is Made Public.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 28.—Elihu Root, secretary of state, spent a short time here Friday, on route to the City of Mexico, traveling in the private car "Signal" attached to Iron Mountain train No. 6.

When pressed for a political statement, he discussed presidential possibilities. He said:

"President Roosevelt will not be a candidate of the Republican party. He has made a plain statement as to this effect and, even if he desired, he could not afford to accept a renomination. It is true that from many sections of the country there are coming requests that the president allow his name to be presented at our next national convention, but this will not be the case. He will not be a candidate."

Official Program Announced.
Mexico City, Sept. 28.—The official program for the reception and festivities in honor of Secretary Root was made public Friday by Gov. Landu Escandon of the federal district. It is as follows: The train with Mr. Root on board will be met Monday, September 30, on its arrival here at four o'clock in the afternoon by Foreman Minister Ignacio Mariscal, Gov. Escandon, Fernando Pimentel, the mayor of Mexico City; the board of governors of the city, and a committee of the municipal council. The secretary will proceed at once to Chapultepec castle, which has been prepared for his reception.

Tuesday at 11 o'clock in the morning Mr. Root will be received by President Diaz. In the evening there will be a banquet at the national palace, after which the secretary will witness an opera performance at the Abasco theater.

Wednesday will be given over to a garden party at Chapultepec castle. Thursday morning there will be a reception at the chamber of deputies, and in the evening Mr. Root will be the guest of honor at a banquet, tendered by the city at the municipal palace.

Friday American Day.
Friday is to be "American day," and Ambassador Thompson and the American colony will entertain the visitor.

Saturday morning there will be an excursion to Xochimilco, a suburb of this city, where a water festival will be held.

Price of Coal Advanced.
Columbus, O., Sept. 28.—An advance of ten cents a ton on coal is made by the operators of the Hocking Valley in the October price list, issued Friday. This makes domestic lump coal f. o. b. mines $1.85 a ton, heavy demand and the shortage of cars are said to be the chief reasons for the advance.

Destruction, But No Fire.
A bolt of lightning which struck the barn of Joseph Jagard at Almon, one afternoon, tore a hole through the roof, passed through the haymow and out the side of the building. Neither the building nor the hay was set afire.—Woodbury correspondent Philadelphia Record.

HARRY B. SMITH IN HANDS OF FOOTPADS

Assaulted and Relieved of Watch and Money in Peculiar Fashion on South Main Street Last Evening.

After the experience of Harry B. Smith, head of the H. B. Smith Pen Co., and son of Albert Smith, who lives at 203 South Main street, residents of that thoroughfare will undoubtedly be anxious to have the trees trimmed and the electric lamps hung lower. Mr. Smith was on his way home about eleven o'clock last evening and was just passing the home of Mrs. Gertrude Kelle, which is just south of the South Third street intersection, when an individual somewhat under medium size emerged from the shadows and demanded that he hold up his hands. Believing himself to be the victim of a joke, he complied and was awaiting the next move, when Roy McDonald, returning from a stroll down the thoroughfare, appeared upon the scene. The supposed practical joker promptly took to his heels and Smith joined in pursuit determined to discover the identity of the footpad if possible. He was unsuccessful, however, and returning to the walk accompanied McDonald down town again.

Some time thereafter Smith again turned his steps homeward, with no thought other than his experience a short time before, had been but a harmless prank of some one of his friends. At the corner of Alty, Edward Ryan's premises at 225 South Main street, according to the story narrated by him this morning, the same man who had accosted him before stepped from behind a tree and showed a revolver into his face, at the same time commanding him again to throw up his hands. Simultaneously, he turned to face his assailant, a man of much larger build came out of the yard, seized him from behind, and held him as if in a vice. The second man quickly went through his clothes tearing out the fiddle coat pocket and a treasure of a gold watch and about $1.25 in money. The big assailant then threw him violently to the ground and the two started on a run across lots. It was dark and raining and Mr. Smith says that he heard one mutter a curse and exclaim: "I've dropped it!" as he ran into some shrubbery.

Scared and disheveled, with hat broken and covered with mud and clothes torn and shabbily bespattered, Mr. Smith made his way homeward and after some delay got a message to the police station. Officers Brown and Brigham, Benke and Morrissey looked until morning for suspicious characters who might answer to the vague descriptions Mr. Smith was able to give, but were unsuccessful in their quest. Just after daylight Mr. Smith and his brother, Al Smith, visited the Ryan premises and found the timepiece lying in the grass. That the help men had picked out their victim and for some reason or other expected to make a big haul, seems quite evident, as Jack Francis had preceded Smith about a block on his second trip down Main street and was not molested. The comic character of the work indicates that it may have been done by local talent.

MORTUARY MENTION.

Emmett Addy
Emmett Addy, for many years a resident of Janesville, died suddenly in Minneapolis at eight o'clock yesterday morning. The sad tidings came as a severe shock to local relatives. Mr. Addy and his family departed for the Minnesota metropolis in 1893 and they had made their home there since that time. Besides his wife, who was formerly Miss Mary Rolston, the deceased is survived by a daughter, Dorothy, and three sons—Everett, Willard, and Jay Addy.

Mrs. Anna Mooney
After a long illness Mrs. Anna Mooney, aged 70 years, died at her home on Rachel street at 7:15 this morning. She had been a long time resident of this city, being the widow of the late Cornelius Mooney, who died in 1901. The deceased is survived by three children, Miss Anna Mooney, John Mooney, and Mrs. Edward Sherman, and a sister, Mrs. Mary McKean, all of this city. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

Martin Kennedy
The funeral of the late Martin Kennedy was held at 10 o'clock this morning. The pallbearers were Michael Connors, Patrick Riley, John Donnelly, John Connors, Samuel Watson, and James Dea. Interment was made in Mount Olivet cemetery.

Claron Millmore
The funeral of the late Claron Millmore, which will be held from the residence of the parents, No. 1 Center avenue, two o'clock Sunday afternoon, will be private. The Rev. Vaughan will officiate.

Sweet Potatoes in Wisconsin.
Evening Wisconsin: D. S. Ross, a farmer, formerly of Iowa, who is settled east of Solon Springs, in Douglas county, Wisconsin, has given his neighbors something to talk about by raising an excellent crop of sweet potatoes. He is not the first man who has demonstrated that the agricultural possibilities of Wisconsin have a wider range than might be inferred from statistics of latitude.

It has long been known that there are large areas in Wisconsin where Irish potatoes, so called, flourish as to both quantity and quality in a degree unsurpassed anywhere on earth. The sweet potato has been generally assumed to be a Southern product par excellence. If it will grow in Douglas county, on the northern boundary of the state, the inference is fair that it will grow anywhere in Wisconsin under favorable conditions as to soil.

There are some palates to which its sweet taste is preferable to the starchier but unvarying flavor of the more staple and standard tuber. That it is wholesome and nourishing, as to be deduced from the historic fact that the sweet potato was often the sole diet of Marston and his men in the Revolutionary War. It cannot supplant the Irish potato, but it may well supplement that now indispensable article of diet.

EDGERTON OFFICIALS TO APPEAR IN COURT

On Complaint of M. B. Fletcher, Mayor and Aldermen Are Summoned to Explain Granting 15th Saloon License.

On complaint of M. B. Fletcher, a resident of that city, Mayor E. M. Ladd of Edgerton and the six aldermen—J. O. Arthurs, Dr. Julius Holton, Westmore Dickson, Clason Robinson, Fred Vickers, and Charles Stricker—have been commanded to appear before Judge Graham within ten days and disclose all the details of an alleged unusual transaction whereby George E. Lytle was granted a saloon license during from June 24, June 4, so it is claimed, a resolution limiting the number of saloons to 10—the number then doing business, was passed. It is further claimed that thereafter the ten men who had been conducting bars, together with Mr. Lytle, made application for licenses to begin in July; that the applications of the ten were granted and that of Mr. Lytle denied. But on June 20, at an alleged special meeting, the resolution of June 4 limiting the number of saloons, is alleged to have been rescinded and the additional license granted to Mr. Lytle. The complaint invokes a law which limits the number of saloons to every 250 inhabitants in support of his contention that the council proceedings were not only irregular but also illegal. Sheriff L. U. Fisher served the notices on the Edgerton officials at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. The summons created no particular stir, something of the kind having been anticipated.
